Property Description

If you are considering buying land in Costa Rica, this farm is one of the most beautiful properties around. It is located in the mountains above Uvita at approx 2000 ft elevation and is much cooler than down at sea level. This is a great elevation for living and growing many types of fruits and vegetables. The soil on this farm is dark in color and great for growing food unlike many of the farms in the area which are mainly red clay. There are also two natural springs and several beautiful waterfalls on the property that you could make a natural spring pool at the bottom of one of them. This is a perfect place to build your dream home getaway or an epic retreat center. There is even a natural amphitheater-like section towards the bottom of the property that you could turn into something special as well. There are 2 ways to get to this property. The first is from Uvita and up to a gravel road.
