Property Description

These beautiful lots are strategically located between the main highway and the hills that surround Santa Marta and Betania, on the road leading towards the highway to Hojancha. Due to its geographical location, the topography is mountainous which gives it a fresh air at night, a cooler environment in the summer season, and therefore more rainfall per year. Suitable for agricultural or residential use, the lot is conveniently divided into two plots, which share an access from the main street. The lots have access to the infrastructure of basic services.
